UNITEDHEALTH GROUP LAUNCHES REDESIGNED CORPORATE WEB SITE

MINNEAPOLIS (June 6, 2008) – UnitedHealth Group (NYSE:UNH) has launched a redesigned and expanded Web site, www.unitedhealthgroup.com. The new, more user-friendly site provides information about UnitedHealth Group’s products, services and public policy strategies and showcases many of the individuals the company serves through its mission to help people live healthier lives.

The enhanced site informs all stakeholders of UnitedHealth Group’s priorities, areas of focus and business direction and recognizes the company’s partnerships and alliances. It also provides information that is easy to find and to access on UnitedHealth Group’s family of businesses, along with links to their specific sites.

Don Nathan, UnitedHealth Group, senior vice president and chief communications officer said: “The launch of our new Web site illustrates UnitedHealth Group’s commitment to be transparent about our business and how the company is making it easier for all constituents to work with us. The site also reflects UnitedHealth Group’s commitment to working cooperatively with all participants in health care to achieve the shared goal of access to quality health care for all Americans.”

UnitedHealth Group also unveiled a new Web site dedicated to the company’s social responsibility efforts (www.unitedforhealthiercommunities.com). This new Web site features UnitedHealth Group’s commitment to preventing disease and promoting health, addressing racial and social disparities in health care, improving medical knowledge and education, encouraging volunteerism, and fostering corporate citizenship. The site expands on UnitedHealth Group’s annual Business Social Responsibility Report and supports the company’s commitment to accountability and transparency in all that it does.
